

European League Against Rheumatism

European Certificate of Rheumatology

Pavlos Stamatis Sweden

Has passed the examination and is hereby awarded the EULAR European Certificate of Rheumatology. The examination is organized by the European League Against Rheumatism and consists of questions that cover a wide range of specific topics on rheumatology.

This certificate confirms that the examination, taken on 16th June 2018, was successfully passed.

The examination does not replace necessary local licensing requirements to practice as a rheumatologist.
